

Jeff Grandy Photography

Technical Notes:

When photographing, I use the following cameras: a 35 mm Contax RTS2 using Zeiss optics, and a Bronica ETRSi. My film of choice varies, but prefer Fuji Velvia. All of the images in this show are printed on Fuji Crystal Archive paper. I prefer it because it has been tested and found to last nearly sixty years under display conditions. I do my own scanning of the original film of the Heidelberg Tango Drum Scanner. The prints are produced by the Lightjet 5000, which exposes the Fuji photographic paper with RGB laser lights. This process produces superior detail, color and contrast control over the traditional darkroom method. All framed pieces are shipped with plexi-glass only. Each photograph will be printed on demand and shipped to the buyer. Please allow 3-4 weeks for delivery. On display are two sizes: 16x20 (mat size 22x28) and 20x24 (mat size 28 x 33). Other sizes are also available.
