

2021 Mono Lake Committee ANNUAL REPORT

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND CHAIR OF THE BOARD

October 2021

Twenty twenty-one will be another one for the books.

This fall the California State Water Resources Control Board released their final order requiring the Los Angeles Department of Water & Power to launch a new era of restoration for the streams that flow into Mono Lake.

Years in the making, the order marks a critical new chapter in stream restoration with more ecologically beneficial streamflows, and with major modifications to the antiquated Los Angeles Aqueduct facilities at Grant Dam. Beginning with the State Water Board's historic 1994 decision to save Mono Lake, we have waited a long time to get to this point. It is gratifying to MLC staff and all of our loyal supporters to achieve this legal order.

It's also a year when we carefully returned to more familiar operations. For over 40 years, staff had been working daily in a crowded office. This year, with modern technology, has been an opportunity to try new ways of achieving our most essential goals.

We believe in connecting people with Mono Lake in meaningful ways. This year we did it in the old ways—through the Information Center & Bookstore, with interns leading walking tours, on Outdoor Education Center programs, in Field Seminars, with Mono Lake Volunteers, and on the good old phone. We also did it in the new ways—via the website, on remote tours, with virtual events, and on Zoom, and from makeshift desks at home, a car parked at a scenic overlook, or our favorite—on the shore of Mono Lake.

We are proud of this year's accomplishments because, as written on the Bookstore wall, "We are people protecting Mono Lake for future generations."

May the streams flow and brine shrimp prosper.

MISSION

The Mono Lake Committee is a non-profit citizens' group dedicated to protecting and restoring the Mono Basin ecosystem, educating the public about Mono Lake and the impacts on the environment of excessive water use, and promoting cooperative solutions that protect Mono Lake and meet real water needs without transferring environmental problems to other areas.

For over 40 years, the Mono Lake Committee has been inspired by a love for this beautiful place, where a remarkable salt lake lies at the center of a landscape and ecosystem unmatched. Our vision is of a healthy, protected, and wild Mono Basin and of an organization that seeks positive, principled, proactive solutions to problems.

The Committee's landmark success—saving Mono Lake from excessive diversion of water to Los Angeles—is internationally known. We revitalized the Public Trust doctrine through a precedent-setting California Supreme Court decision, launched programs to meet Los Angeles' real water needs through water conservation and reclamation, and achieved an extraordinary revision of water rights in the Mono Basin that ensures Mono Lake will thrive and its tributary streams will prosper.

Hundreds of thousands of people have united in support of Mono Lake, and we have learned that protecting this place requires us to do even more. Today the Committee tackles new challenges, advances the restoration of the lake and its streams, shares this special place through unique education programs, and broadens our knowledge of Mono Lake through scientific research. As always, we maintain constant vigilance to protect our collective hard-won victories.

PROTECTION

Protecting Mono Lake, its streams, and surrounding watershed requires nimble advocacy, thoughtful planning, and vigilance. Mono Lake needs ongoing citizen involvement to ensure that protections remain strong. Our history of engagement with Mono Lake water issues provides critical expertise needed to ensure that promised protections are followed.

Twenty seven years after State Water Board Decision 1631 mandated the return of Mono Lake to a healthy level, the lake is less than 40% of the way there—12 vertical feet below the mandated level—and too far from recovering from decades of excessive water diversions. The risks of letting Mono Lake linger at low levels are large, and there is little buffer against dry-year elevation drops causing both swift and long-term ecosystem damage and increased violation of air quality standards.

2021 brought a range of issues that underscore the importance of the Committee's day-to-day watchdog role. We rallied support for protecting the scenic qualities of the Mono Basin from the poorly-planned Tioga Inn development and continued the work to protect California Gulls by removing a fast-growing invasive weed from their nesting grounds on the islets.

Public comment on the Tioga Inn project was overwhelming in opposition after significant impacts were not addressed.

RESTORATION

Restoration heals damage caused by fifty years of excessive water diversions to Los Angeles. The goal in the Mono Basin is to rejuvenate the dynamic ecological processes of Mono Lake and its tributary streams to re-establish conditions that support thriving ecosystems into the future.

The State Water Board released their final order requiring the Los Angeles Department of Water & Power (DWP) to launch a new chapter of restoration for the streams that flow into Mono Lake. Years in the making, the order marks the start of this groundbreaking stream restoration work, including more ecologically beneficial streamflows and construction of a Grant Dam outlet needed to deliver those flows. Stalled by DWP since the 2013 Stream Restoration Agreement, the Committee has persisted in pressuring DWP to comply.

In the north Mono Basin, new infrastructure to deliver water to Mill Creek, consistent with water rights, was installed thanks to a cooperative relationship with Southern California Edison (SCE). Volunteers continue to remove invasive plants from along the banks of Mill Creek in order to give native seedlings a chance to establish.

A community collaboration begun in 2020 successfully replaced 1,700 feet of broken pipe at the DeChambeau Ponds. All four of the ponds now receive water for this valuable waterfowl and wildlife habitat for the first time in nearly a decade.

New SCE infrastructure will allow for accurate water deliveries to Mill Creek and downstream water rights holders.

EDUCATION

To share the sense of wonder and understanding that Mono Lake evokes, the Committee's education programs offer a wide array of opportunities for visitors, members, and enthusiasts to learn more about Mono Lake in addition to environmental education programs for thousands of students each year.

While the COVID-19 pandemic necessitated changes to education program operations, we were able to offer daily South Tufa tours throughout the summer, virtual and in-person Field Seminars, a virtual Mono Basin Bird Chautauqua, and custom guided trips. Mono Lake Committee staff produced Mono Lake Moments, a short video series filmed throughout the Mono Basin to connect people with Mono Lake remotely.

The Mono Lake Volunteer program helped travelers and enhanced visitor experiences throughout the Mono Basin. We delivered virtual and in-person environmental education programs on the shore of Mono Lake for students throughout the spring, summer, and fall.

The Mono Basin Outdoor Education Center operated with special COVID-19 precautions, hosting 16 groups throughout the summer and fall in the form of transformative week-long watershed education trips.

The Information Center & Bookstore was open to help visitors explore and learn more about the Mono Basin. Upgrades to monolake.org made Mono Lake information more accessible, and the Mono Lake Newsletter reached 16,000 members three times this year.

MONO BASIN Outdoor Education Center

In 2021 we kicked off landscape updates at the Mono Basin Outdoor Education Center! With the goal of improving the quality of the on-site outdoor space, the improvements will also bring much-needed privacy, peacefulness, and watershed themes to the program's home base. This first phase of the project includes a gabion fence, earthen berms, a small amphitheater, and improved quiet areas for camping.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Science provides a critical basis for policy positions, a guide for restoration, and inspiration for understanding Mono Lake. Scientific research has provided the ecosystem and landscape knowledge that is the foundation of Mono Lake's protection.

The Committee works closely with researchers, supports well-established projects like annual California Gull research and Eared Grebe surveys, and hosts a research library and online clearinghouse of Mono Basin scientific information at monobasinresearch.org.

The Mono Basin Field Station provides research support facilities with the goals of enhancing the scientific knowledge of the Mono Basin, fostering collaboration and information exchange, infusing our education programs with engaged scientists and giving students opportunities to see scientific work in action.

Since opening in 2004 the Mono Basin Field Station has supported 193 researchers working on 110 field season projects. Topics of study have ranged from Greater Sage-Grouse and phalaropes to paleoclimatology, fish, arthropods, and climate science.

In 2021 the Mono Lake Committee joined the worldwide Motus Wildlife Tracking network and began building data receiving stations—the first in the Great Basin. The stations will enable researchers to learn more about birds mostly, but also bats and even insects—on and around Mono Lake.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Mono Basin Field Station

Research projects based out of and facilitated by the Mono Basin Field Station include:

- Geomorphic and riparian monitoring at Rush Creek: Bill Trush, PhD, Co-Director Humboldt State University River Institute, Department of Environmental Science and Management, Arcata, California.
- Geomorphology and paleoclimatology in the Mono Basin: Scott Stine, PhD, Professor Emeritus, California State University, East Bay.
- Survey of California Gull reproductive success at Mono Lake: Ryan Burnett, Point Blue Conservation Science.
- Eared Grebe surveys on Mono Lake: Sean Boyd, PhD, Pacific Wildlife Research Centre, Environment and Climate Change Canada.
- Western North American Coordinated Phalarope Surveys: Ryan Carle, Science Manager, Oikonos - Ecosystem Knowledge.
- Development of late Pleistocene and early and middle Holocene hydroclimatic record of the Mono Basin: Guleed Ali, PhD, Earth Observatory of Singapore.
- Greater Sage-Grouse monitoring and research: US Geological Survey field crew in collaboration with DWP, BLM, CDFW, and USFWS.
- Geophysical Lake Thermal Monitoring: Matthew J Hornbach, PhD, Southern Methodist University and the US Geological Survey.

ECOLOGICAL FOOTPRINT

Evaluating our impacts in the course of protecting Mono Lake is an important part of the equation. As we face the realities of climate change in the Mono Basin, one element of the Mono Lake Committee mission statement—“without transferring environmental problems to other areas”—has new meaning. In the course of protecting Mono Lake we track our resource use and challenge ourselves to increase efficiency and reduce impacts.

The COVID-19 pandemic has changed how and where we work, operate, and accomplish organizational goals. As the public health situation continues to unfold, we can only begin to understand how these changes will affect our resource consumption and our work to reduce our carbon footprint moving forward.

At our headquarters, 57 strategically-placed solar panels help us achieve net-zero power consumption for our Information Center & Bookstore and office operations even when at full operational capacity.

At the Mono Basin Outdoor Education Center we replaced single-pane windows and installed 16 solar panels to meet our net-zero power consumption goal for the OEC too.

We are currently working toward a net-zero power consumption goal for the Mono Basin Field Station with 27 solar panels installed in 2021.

Mono Lake Volunteers

The Mono Lake Volunteer program is a joint initiative sponsored by the US Forest Service, California State Parks (the Mono Lake Tufa State Natural Reserve), and the Mono Lake Committee, with support from the Eastern Sierra Interpretive Association and the Bodie Foundation. Volunteers are a critical part of these agencies' work on behalf of Mono Lake.
