

2023 Mono Lake Committee ANNUAL REPORT

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND CHAIR OF THE BOARD

November 2023

At Mono Lake, 2023 will be remembered for the abrupt turn of events in which we went from filing an emergency action with the State Water Board due to a severely low lake, to surviving a winter so massive it produced a nearly five foot lake rise.

After a winter of shoveling, running snowblowers, and more shoveling, we watched with relief as the surface area of the lake increased more than four and a half square miles, shrinking the landbridge, thus increasing the distance between predatory coyotes and California Gull island nesting grounds.

However, the lake rise does come with a downside—under the current rules, a rising lake allows the Los Angeles Department of Water & Power to increase diversions next year, and that will erode the wet year gains. Yep, we've seen this movie before.

At the State Water Board's Mono Lake workshop in February the call for a hearing to update stream diversion rules was loud and clear. Many people, including the powerful voices of environmental justice leaders in Los Angeles, are calling for more responsible, resilient, and local water sources.

Our conversations with Los Angeles leaders are making progress too—focusing on solving problems by helping fund local supply projects in the city and getting more water to Mono Lake to ensure it rises to the mandated 6392-foot Public Trust lake level. It's time to secure the lake's ecological health, to protect millions of nesting and migratory birds, to end toxic dust storms, to protect cultural resources, and to ensure that future generations can enjoy Mono Lake too.

It has been a phenomenally exciting year watching the water come up. There's a sense of relief—on interpretive tours, along the creeks, with Outdoor Education Center students, and with the scientific researchers.

Thank you for being part of this grassroots effort at this pivotal time.

Long Live Mono Lake!

Geoffrey McQuilkin, Executive Director

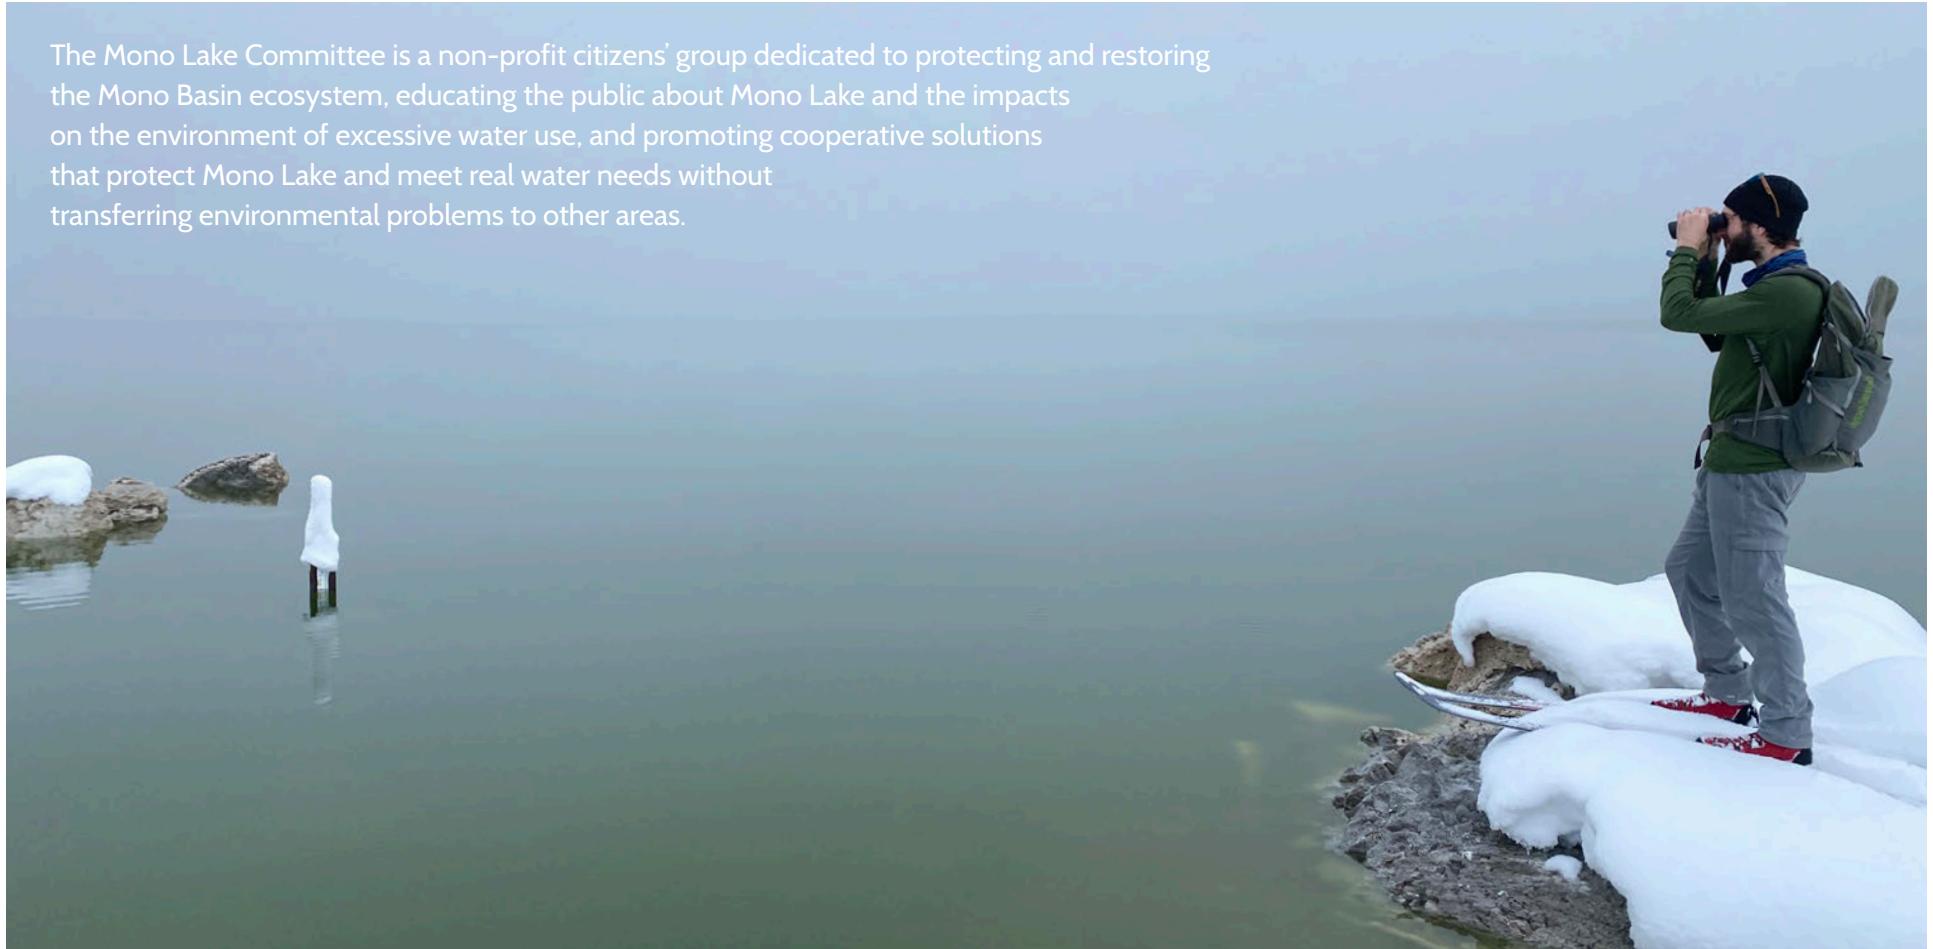

Sally Gaines, Chair, Board of Directors

The 2023 Mono Lake Committee staff.

MISSION

The Mono Lake Committee is a non-profit citizens' group dedicated to protecting and restoring the Mono Basin ecosystem, educating the public about Mono Lake and the impacts on the environment of excessive water use, and promoting cooperative solutions that protect Mono Lake and meet real water needs without transferring environmental problems to other areas.

For more than 40 years, the Mono Lake Committee has been inspired by a love for this beautiful place, where a remarkable salt lake lies at the center of a landscape and ecosystem unmatched. Our vision is of a healthy, protected, and wild Mono Basin and of an organization that seeks positive, principled, proactive solutions to problems.

The Committee's landmark success—saving Mono Lake from excessive diversion of water to Los Angeles—is internationally known. We revitalized the Public Trust doctrine through a precedent-setting California Supreme Court decision, launched programs to meet Los Angeles' real water needs through water conservation and reclamation, and achieved an extraordinary revision of water rights in the Mono Basin that ensures Mono Lake will thrive and its tributary streams will prosper.

Hundreds of thousands of people have united in support of Mono Lake, and we have learned that protecting this place requires us to do even more. Today the Committee tackles new challenges, advances the restoration of the lake and its streams, shares this special place through unique education programs, and broadens our knowledge of Mono Lake through scientific research. As always, we maintain constant vigilance to protect our collective hard-won victories.

PROTECTION

Protecting Mono Lake, its streams, and surrounding watershed requires

nimble advocacy, thoughtful planning, and vigilance. Mono Lake needs ongoing citizen involvement to ensure that protections remain strong. Our history of engagement with Mono Lake water issues provides critical expertise needed to ensure that promised protections are followed.

Even with this year's almost 5-foot lake rise, the lake level is still far below the State Water Board-mandated Public Trust lake level. Current hydrological data and analysis shows that, year-by-year, diversions by the Los Angeles Department of Water & Power suppress Mono Lake's rise.

Due in large part to public involvement, the State Water Board has said it plans to hold a hearing to discuss options for recovering Mono Lake. Meanwhile, Mono Lake has been the topic of important discussions in Los Angeles, focusing on the challenge of ensuring the lake rises to the Public Trust lake level. The continued attention of the Committee is making a difference. Although the road is long and winding, implementation of the protections the lake—and all Californians—have been promised can be achieved.

The Committee's day-to-day presence remains strong, with progress made on the remediation of the Lee Vining Burn Dump site at the Mono Basin Scenic Area Visitor Center, monitoring wild horse impacts, monitoring the gull colony for signs of coyotes, and removing invasive weeds from gull nesting habitat.

Robbie installs a wildlife camera to monitor predator activity near the California Gull nesting colony.

Committee staff meet with CalRecycle about improving the dump remediation project near the Visitor Center.

Volunteers remove invasive Bassia weeds from California Gull nesting habitat on the Negit Islets.

Volunteers and staff from the Forest Service, State Parks, and Mono Lake Committee clear horse manure at South Tufa.

PROTECTION

Mono Lake Committee and Los Angeles Department of Water & Power staff cooperatively read the lake level for the start of the new water year on April 1. This year Committee staff skied down to the lake from Lee Vining and DWP traveled down to the lake by snowcat due to the record snowpack.

The hydrology modeling team discusses the details of forecast modeling and lake level changes in a big water year.

The 2023 runoff season brought restoration benefits to the streams, but also the challenges of flooded roads.

On windy days dust billows off the dry lakebed, which was exposed when Mono Lake dropped due to DWP's diversions.

RESTORATION

Restoration heals damage caused by decades of excessive water diversions

to Los Angeles. The goal in the Mono Basin is to rejuvenate the dynamic ecological processes of Mono Lake and its tributary streams to re-establish conditions that support thriving ecosystems into the future.

This year Mono's tributaries received more than 200% of average runoff. Thanks to State Water Board Order 21-86 amending Los Angeles' Mono Basin water rights to include new requirements to maximize restoration of 20 miles of damaged stream habitat on Rush, Lee Vining, Parker, and Walker creeks. Many high flow restoration benefits were achieved this year.

A major milestone for Mill Creek, the First Amendment to the Lundy Hydroelectric Project Settlement guarantees water will be delivered to Mill Creek as required by established water rights. The Committee is implementing new restoration opportunities now that the creek reliably receives larger and more natural flows.

The Committee continues to be a part of the collaborative community effort to restore and maintain the DeChambeau Ponds which provide valuable waterfowl and wildlife habitat for migratory birds.

The Committee signing the First Amendment to the Lundy Hydroelectric Project Settlement, which guarantees water will be delivered to Mill Creek as required by established water rights.

Committee staff check on Mill Creek's culverts after the highest streamflows of the summer had subsided.

RESTORATION

Robbie and Maureen monitor changes on Rush Creek made by the record runoff. This year's large peak flows made a positive contribution to the restoration of all of Mono Lake's tributary streams.

Robbie monitors streamflows along Rush Creek, checking on in-stream macroinvertebrate life as he goes.

Mara and Maureen read the lake level gauge to monitor the rapid lake level rise.

The Committee works to resolve a mismanaged dump remediation project at the Scenic Area Visitor Center.

EDUCATION

To share the sense of wonder and understanding that Mono Lake evokes,

the Committee's education programs offer a wide array of opportunities for visitors, members, the public, and student groups to learn more about Mono Lake.

This summer we hosted daily free public walking sunset tours at South Tufa every evening to introduce people to the natural, cultural, and water history of the Mono Basin. We launched canoe tours every weekend, led weekly bird walks at County Park, and gave patio talks at the Mono Basin Scenic Area Visitor Center.

Field Seminars on topics ranging from natural history and photography to volcanology and the Los Angeles Aqueduct provided opportunities for multi-day learning experiences. We happily take out any class from elementary school through college to introduce students to Mono Lake and the Mono Lake story.

Hundreds of birders flocked to the Mono Basin Bird Chautauqua and this year's Phalarope Festival with partners from Great Salt Lake, Utah, and Laguna Mar Chiquita, Argentina. The Mono Basin Outdoor Education Center programs hosted 25 environmental and social justice groups from Los Angeles to share the importance of water conservation. The Information Center & Bookstore was open throughout the summer to offer information about the state of the lake as well as where to visit Mono Lake and what to see to thousands of visitors.

Nora presents about the Bird Chautauqua to ecotourism professionals at Mar Chiquita, Argentina ... in Spanish.

EDUCATION

Mono Basin OEC participants and leaders from Communities for a Better Environment and Cal State Northridge's Chicana and Chicano Studies Department meet with LA City Councilmember Heather Hutt's staff to discuss responsible and climate-resilient local water use, and the connection of the city's water use to the future of Mono Lake.

Ryan gives an interpretive talk about Mono Lake on the back patio of the Scenic Area Visitor Center.

Students on a canoe tour get a close-up look at underwater tufa towers.

Geoff gives a field tour of LA Aqueduct infrastructure in the Mono Basin.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Science provides a critical basis for policy positions, a guide for restoration, and inspiration for understanding Mono Lake. Scientific research has provided the ecosystem and landscape knowledge that is the foundation of Mono Lake's protection.

The Committee works closely with researchers, supports well-established projects like annual California Gull research and Eared Grebe surveys, and hosts a research library and online clearinghouse of Mono Basin scientific information at monobasinresearch.org.

The Mono Basin Field Station provides research support facilities with the goals of enhancing the scientific knowledge of the Mono Basin, fostering collaboration and information exchange, infusing our education programs with engaged scientists, and giving students opportunities to see scientific work in action.

Since opening in 2004 the Mono Basin Field Station has supported hundreds of researchers working on a wide variety of Mono Basin-focused field projects. Topics of study have ranged from Greater Sage-Grouse and phalaropes to volcanology, fish, arthropods, and climate science.

Though the Mono Basin Field Station and science support infrastructure sustained considerable snow damage, we were still able to host a full roster of researchers, including at the recently-donated Stephens' Property site in the remote northeast corner of the basin.

Kiki of Oikos Ecosystem Knowledge scans Mono Lake for phalaropes.

Robbie and Bill monitor riparian vegetation and stream channel structure during the big runoff summer.

Anna from the University of Michigan installs an evaporation pan to measure evaporation rates in the Mono Basin.

Multiple aerial surveys help quantify the number of Eared Grebes staging at Mono Lake during fall migration.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Mono Basin Field Station

2023 Research projects facilitated include:

- Survey of California Gull reproductive success at Mono Lake: Ryan Burnett, Point Blue Conservation Science.
- Eared Grebe surveys on Mono Lake: Sean Boyd, PhD, Pacific Wildlife Research Centre, Environment and Climate Change Canada.
- Western North American Coordinated Phalarope Surveys: Ryan Carle, Science Manager, Oikonos Ecosystem Knowledge.
- Investigation of Holocene volcanic eruptions in the Mono Basin: Andy Calvert, PhD, Wes Hildreth, PhD, and the US Geological Survey.
- Lake-atmosphere interactions and thermal monitoring: Matthew J. Hornbach, PhD, Southern Methodist University.
- Closing Mono Lake's Water Balance Using a Bayesian Statistical Approach: Andrew Gronewold, Anna Gossard, Anne Fetrow, Naomi Levin, Benjamin Passey, University of Michigan.
- Bridging the Gap Between Hydrologic Modeling and Paleoclimate Records using Stable Isotope Geochemistry: Anne Fetrow, Naomi Levin, Benjamin Passey, Univ. of Michigan.
- Greater Sage-Grouse monitoring and research: US Geological Survey field crew in collaboration with DWP, BLM, CDFW, and USFWS.
- Reproductive behavior of Spotted Sandpipers in the Mono Basin: Jessica Schaefer, PhD candidate, UC Davis.
- Life history and ecology of White-crowned Sparrows in Tuolumne Meadows: UC Davis.
- (1) Dating Mono Lake tufa towers of the last 10,000 years using single crystal uranium-series dating. (2) Using boron isotopes to quantify the ground-lake water mixing recipe of Mono Lake tufa. (3) Dating the eruptions of the Mono Craters using  $^{14}\text{C}$  dating of vegetation incinerated by hot ash flows: Guleed Ali, Stony Brook University.

Laurie from the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board gathers alkali fly pupae samples for testing in consideration of Tribal Beneficial Uses Designation at Mono Lake and its tributary streams.

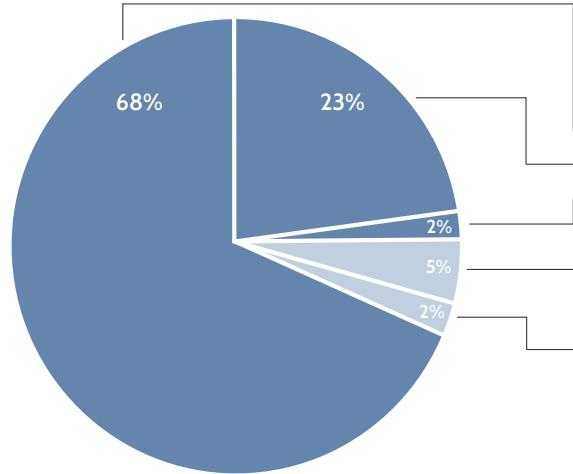

Ellery presents her research on Mono Basin glaciers at the Refreshing 'Ologists lecture series.

The Committee put up Motus arrays so that researchers can track bird migration at Mono Lake.

Mono Lake Volunteers

The Mono Lake Volunteer program is a joint initiative sponsored by the US Forest Service, California State Parks (the Mono Lake Tufa State Natural Reserve), and the Mono Lake Committee, with support from the Eastern Sierra Interpretive Association and the Bodie Foundation. Volunteers are a critical part of these agencies' work on behalf of Mono Lake.
